

ISLE OF WIGHT OBSERVER Saturday 10th September 1898

ACCIDENT.- An accident of a somewhat serious character happened to John GLADDIS, of Haylands, at Nunwell, on Friday last. Whilst assisting in felling a tree one of the large branches fell on his wrist, causing a compound fracture. He was immediately conveyed to the Royal Isle of Wight Infirmary and County Hospital, where he remains an in-patient.

Researched & typed by
Ann Barrett
Kate MacDonell