

WELL-KNOWN TRADESMAN MARRIED

The marriage took place at Salisbury on Saturday last of Mr. James G. DUFFETT, a well-known and popular tradesman of Ryde, and Miss Ethel May GODWIN, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. J. GODWIN of The Croft, Salisbury. The interesting ceremony was quietly celebrated at St. Edmund's Church by the Rev. Canon MORRICE, M.A. The bride, who was given away by her brother, Q.M.S. Charles GODWIN, A.S.C., wore a travelling costume of Wedgwood blue, with a black velvet hat with tips, and carried a lovely bouquet of lilies, carnations and chrysanthemums. She was attended by Miss Louisa Amy BORTHWICK as best girl, whose costume was of mole brown, with hat to match. Her bouquet consisted of pink carnations and white chrysanthemums. Mr. Percy COOMBES officiated as best man. The honeymoon was spent in London. The numerous and valuable presents included –to the bride, silver candlesticks from the staff of St. Mary's Girl School, Southampton, and a silver rose bowl from the Salisbury Club; and to the bridegroom, a silver flower and fruit stand from customers at The Lion Brewery, a firescreen from the Conservative and Unionist Club in Lind-street, and a set of pipes from his employees.
