ISLE OF WIGHT TIMES Thursday 2nd Dec 1886

SUDDEN DEATH

William CHANDLER, an old man, a carpenter by trade, aged 81 years, died suddenly, between Saturday night and Sunday morning, at his house, Mount-street, where he lived alone. He was seen by his son on Saturday night, but in the course of Sunday not being seen, the door was forced open, and the old man was found dead in bed. The coroner was communicated with, but as Dr. WOODWARD was able to certify that deceased died from natural causes, the Coroner did not deem it necessary to hold an inquest.

SUDDEN DEATH

On Sunday morning an old man named William CHANDLER, living by himself in a house in Green-street, was found dead in his bed on Sunday morning. The Coroner has been communicated with, and does not think it necessary to hold an inquest, as the deceased was 81 years of age, and there was no doubt death was the result of old age.
