A CASE FOR THE BENEVOLENT

In our obituary of to-day may be seen the announcement of the death of James OSMOND, pilot of Ryde. The sad event was very sudden, and we regret to learn that the poor fellow, who had been cut off in the prime of life, has left a wife and five children, totally unprovided for, to deplore his loss. He was highly respected by all who knew him, as a steady honest seaman, having spent seventeen years of his life in the Pilot service.

Subscriptions on behalf of his bereaved family will be received at the Isle of Wight Times office, Union-street, Ryde, and published in due course.
