

ISLE OF WIGHT TIMES Thursday 25th Nov 1886

ACCIDENT

General Sir Henry DALY, K.C.B., master of the I.W. Foxhounds, met with an accident on Monday, when hunting near Godshell. Reynard got into a marshy piece of ground into which the horse's hoofs sank. Sir Henry sustained a nasty fall from his hunter through the animal sinking into the marshy ground. In endeavouring to disengage himself the horse kicked Sir Henry in the head, temporarily stunning him. Sir Henry soon recovered and joined in the hunt, but was afterwards induced to return home.

Researched by
Ann Barrett