

1861 CENSUS: RG9/657. Folio 54. page 39.
Address: 130 High-street, Ryde, Newchurch, IW.

Francis CARTER. Head. Mar. 42. Saddler employing 2 men & 2 boys. Newport, Hants.
Eliza CARTER. Wife. Mar. 40. Little Hampton, Sussex.
Frank CARTER. Son. 16. Saddler's son. Ryde, Hants.
Louisa CARTER. Dau. 12. Scholar. Ryde, Hants.
Charles CARTER. Son. 9. Scholar. Ryde, Hants.
Eliza CARTER. Dau. 7. Scholar. Ryde, Hants.
Laura CARTER. Dau. 5. Scholar. Ryde, Hants.
Helen CARTER. Dau. 3. Ryde, Hants.
Elizabeth CARTER. Dau. 1. Ryde, Hants.

1871 CENSUS: RG10/1165. folio 81. page 41.
Abode: 130 High-street, Ryde, IW.

Francis CARTER. Head. Mar. 52. Carriage & Harness Maker, Livery Stable Keeper, empl 17 men
& 8 boys. Newport, IW.
Eliza CARTER. Wife. Mar. 50. Little Hampton, Sussex.
Charles CARTER. Son. Unm. 19. Ryde, IW.
Eliza CARTER. Dau. Unm. 17. Ryde, IW.
Ellen CARTER. Dau. 13. Scholar. Ryde, IW.
Elizabeth CARTER. Dau. 11. Scholar. Ryde, IW.
Alice Mary CARTER. Dau. 5. Ryde, IW.

1881 CENSUS: RG11/1213. Folios 4/5. pages 2/3.
Address: 7 Sussex-place, Southampton, Hants.

Henry BEE. Head. Mar. 53. Ship Owner. Kessingland, Suffolk.
Rosetta BEE. Wife. Mar. 53. Saltfleet, Lincoln.
Charles Hy. BEE. Son. Unm. 26. Ship Owner. Southampton.
William Jeffrey BEE. Son. Unm. 24. Cabinet Maker. Southampton.
Mary Ann BEE, Dau. Unm. 23. Southampton.
Rosa BEE. Dau. Unm. 20. Southampton.
Martha Louisa BEE. Dau. Unm. 17. Southampton.
Annie Rosetta BEE. Dau. Unm. 14. Southampton.
Charles CARTER. Visitor. Unm. 29. Coach Builder. Ryde, IW.
Louisa CARTER. Visitor. Unm. 25. Ryde, IW.
Mary Jane RANDER. Serv. Unm. 21. Cook Domestic. Dorchester.
Annie THORNTON. Serv. Unm. 21. Housemaid. Shirley, Southampton.

IW ADVERTISER, RYDE AND VENTNOR TIMES 5th December 1888

DEATH OF MR. CHARLES CARTER son of Mr. CARTER, of Union-street, and Vernon-square.-

It is with unfeigned regret we record the death of this gentleman who was held in the most universal respect in Ryde. Mr. CARTER not being well had gone for a change to visit some friends in Preston and at Alwick. He had not been from home more than a week when the news came that he was really ill, and very quickly, that he was growing rapidly worse, when his brother Mr. Frank CARTER, went to him, only to find him we believe, quite unconscious. His death occurred on Saturday night. And on Tuesday, a fortnight from leaving his home, his remains were received from the steamer at Ryde Pier. Mr. CARTER was in his 37th year, and besides his business he was actively associated with several of the Institutions of the town, and in all positions his kind and genial manner secured friendships.

The burial took place on Thursday morning in the family vault in the Ryde Cemetery; and high estimation in which the deceased was held, as well as his sudden and unlooked for death, awakened the most sincere sorrow for the removal for so kind and genial a neighbour, as also of sympathy with the bereaved father and family, and the funeral gave most unusual evidence of this feeling. Union-street, High-street, Cross street, and in every business street shops were closed or nearly so, private houses had their blinds drawn, and the pavements on both sides of the route from Vernon-square to the Cemetery were full of those who had come to mark their respect. The coffin of polished oak, and quite hidden beneath the piles of the most elegant wreaths, was borne on an open hearse, and the relatives and immediate friends followed in five coaches, besides this there were several carrying less intimate mourners. Following these were the employees of the firm, a large number, and next in procession, the members of the Primrose League of which Mr. CARTER was an officer (these wore their badges), next followed a large number of the Corporation, with the Mayor, also many members of the George Street Chapel, and other friends and neighbours. The three distinct processions extended the length of Cross-street and far up High-street; also at the Cemetery gates more than fifty members of the Masonic Lodge with brethren and officers from Southampton and Portsmouth, joined the procession.

The first part of the service was taken in George Street Chapel, by the Pastor, the Rev. J. SAUNDERS, by whom a suitable address was given and the large Chapel was quite crowded. The coffin being then re-placed on the hearse the rev. gentleman accompanied the mourners to the Cemetery where he read the concluding portion of the service, amidst the most solemn respect of the large crowd of assembled mourners. The funeral was conducted by Mr. MARVIN.
