DEATH IN RYDE CEMETERY.

Collapses By His Wife's Grave.

A tragedy of grief lay behind a sad discovery in the Cemetery, the body of Mr. Goulding HALL, an aged man at 83 being found by the side of his wife's grave. He had been living with his daughter at 68 Monkton Street and left his home in his usual health about ten o'clock in the morning to visit the grave of his wife who died 19 years ago. Whilst trimming the grass he passed quietly away and was found shortly afterwards by Mrs PRAGNELL of Arethusa Cottage, Smallbrook. The police and Dr. J.W. PRIDMORE were summoned but deceased was beyond all human aid.

Mr HALL had resided in the town for many years after retiring on pension from the service of a prominent oil company. He was of a quiet, reserved nature but took great interest in the well-being of the town and was very popular among his intimate friends. Sincere sympathy is felt with the daughter in her bereavement.

No inquest was deemed necessary
