

1901 CENSUS: RG13/1026. folio 7. page 5.
Address: 24 Oakfield Hill, Ryde, IW.

William J. DORE. Head. M. 27. Labourer. Ryde, IW.

Hildagarde DORE. Wife. M. 21. Ryde, IW.

Hildagarde A. DORE. Dau. 1. Ryde, IW.

William A. DORE. Son. 4mths. Ryde, IW.

Charles CASS. Br-in-law. S. 26. Butcher. Ryde, IW.

Fanny L. CASS. Sis-in-law. S. 23. Cook. Ryde, IW.

---

ISLE OF WIGHT COUNTY PRESS Saturday December. 30th 1939.

RAILWAY PORTER'S DEATH

A familiar figure at the Esplanade railway station for 40 years, where he was employed as a porter, Mr William James DORE, passed away after a month's serious illness at 3 St. John's Wood-road on Sunday. He retired only a year ago and was a popular man among the railway staff and well known to townspeople and visitors. He was a member of the Foresters. The Rev. E. T. H. ROYDS conducted the funeral service in St. John's Church, Oakfield, on Wednesday. The mourners were Messrs. W. F. and A. DORE (sons), Mrs. BANKS (daughter), Mr. and Mrs. W. COOK (aunt and uncle), Mr. H. DIBBENS (son-in-law), and Mr. G. JENVEY. The railway staff was represented by Mr. H. MILLICHAP (stationmaster), Mr. F.C. HALLETT, T.C. (head porter), and Mr. W. JACKSON (chief booking clerk). There were also present Mr. W. SWEETMAN, Mr. C. BACKHOUSE, and Mrs. BISHOP. The beautiful flowers included a tribute from the Southern Railway employees. The interment was at the cemetery.

---

Researched and typed by
Ann Barrett, Lydia Jackson and Marilyn Newsham