

1861 CENSUS: RG9/560. folio 144. page 55.
Address: Havelock-road, Chichester, Hastings.

Eliza GREEN. Head. W. 48. Hotel Keeper. St. Pancras, London.
Lucy GREEN. Dau. Un. 19. Bow, Middlesex.

Alfred G. P. WILKS. Visitor. Un. 24. Landed Proprietor. Marylebone, London.
(plus 4 servants and 5 other hotel visitors)

1871 CENSUS: RG10/1166. folio 35. page 15.
Address: Hanaway Lodge, Belvedere-street, Ryde, IW.

Alfred G. P. WILKS. Head. Mar. 34. ?? & Landowner. St. Pancras, London.
Elizabeth WILKS. Wife. Mar. 28. Cork, Ireland.
Dora Scott WILKS. Dau. 1. Swansea, Wales.
Margaret HICKS. Serv. 43. Nurse Domestic Serv. Barbados, India.
Mary TURNER. Serv. Unm. 21. Cook Domestic Serv. Somerset.

ISLE OF WIGHT TIMES Thursday 16th December, 1880.

Death Notice –

WILKS .. On the 14th inst., at Temple House, George-street, Ryde, Alfred Garratt Platt WILKS,
M.B., Cantab, aged 44 years.

ISLE OF WIGHT OBSERVER Saturday 25th December 1880

THE LATE DR. PLATT WILKS

The remains of Dr. Platt WILKS, whose death we had to record in our last issue, were on Saturday conveyed to their final resting place in the Cemetery. The coffin was previously, however, taken to St. Michael and All Angels, where the first part of the service was gone through, the Rev. Hooker WIX officiating. The funeral procession then wended its way to the Cemetery, where it was joined by a number of the members of the Corporation, Freemasons (in which the deceased gentleman held office), and other friends. Deep regret and sympathy were exhibited by many present, for Dr. WILKS was universally liked, and he will be greatly missed. The Vicar of Swanmore, the Rev. R. H. E. WIX, referred to the mournful event in his sermon on Sunday evening, and many in the congregation were visibly affected. The general regret at the death of Dr. WILKS has been shared by the Volunteers, with whom he was connected for some years, and a regimental note has been issued, which will be found in another column.

ISLE OF WIGHT OBSERVER Saturday 25th December 1880, page 5.

1st ISLE OF WIGHT RIFLE VOLUNTEERS

Battalion Orders

-- (1) Surgeon A. G. Platt WILKS, M.B., having died at Ryde on the 14th instant, is struck off the strength of the corps. The Officer Commanding cannot allow the name of the late Dr. WILKS to be struck off the corps without expressing in orders the regret he feels, and which he is sure all ranks share with him, at the loss the service has sustained in his untimely death. Ever since his appointment to the Regiment, Dr. WILKS has, by his zealous attention to his duties, whether in camp, at the autumn manœuvres, or elsewhere, identified himself with all the interests of the service, and has performed his duties regardless of his own personal convenience, in a manner that will long be remembered with gratitude by every officer and member of the corps.

Researched by Ann Barrett & Lydia Jackson