

ISLE OF WIGHT OBSERVER Saturday 3rd March 1883

ACCIDENT

On Thursday week morning, Mr. J. H. CORBETT, goodsguard, was somewhat seriously hurt. It appears that he was engaged in helping some other men at the St. John's-road Station to shunt some trucks, and got caught by a truck as he was standing against one of the sheds. There was not sufficient room for him to stand, and the truck severely jammed him. He was found on the line by one of his comrades and was taken to the Infirmary, where it was found that he had sustained serious injuries to his collar-bone and his shoulders. He is, however, doing well.

Researched by
Ann Barrett