Her faith led her to work, her love made her persevere and endure it. Now she was taken from their midst, leaving them to sorrow. Could they not enter into her joy and rejoice in the prospect of joining her in the kingdom of glory above?

There were wreaths from Mr and Mrs R. B. I. JOHNSTON, Mrs James B. JOHNSTON, and Mr and Mrs Stuart PULLIN, "C. and K.", the committee of the British Women's Temperance Association, the members and committee of the Y.W.C.A. the JOHNSTON family, and Mrs and Miss WATTS.
