

ISLE OF WIGHT OBSERVER Saturday 16th July 1887

OBITUARY.- Many of our readers will doubtless remember the late Mr LOCKWOOD, a gentleman formerly residing at Saxonbury Lodge, Ryde, and whose name is surrounded with kindly memories, as far as our town is concerned. A scholar and a poet Mr LOCKWOOD will not soon be forgotten. His death was a heavy blow to his wife, who left Ryde after the sad event, and has resided on the continent a great deal since. She died about a fortnight ago in Germany, and as it was her last wish that she might be buried near her husband in the Ryde Cemetery, her remains were brought here last week, and duly interred in the Cemetery on Saturday last. The Vicar, the Rev. Alexander POOLE, performed the service at the grave, the other necessary arrangements being carried out by Messrs. MARVIN and Son.

---

Researched & typed by
Ann Barrett
Kate MacDonell