ISLE OF WIGHT OBSERVER Sat 14th June 1879

DEATH OF MR. COUNCILLOR OSBORNE.---We much regret to record the death, at the age of 54, of Mr. Councillor OSBORNE. The deceased had been ailing for several months. We understand that he caught a severe cold back in the winter, which never left him, and soon developed into a rapid consumption. The last time we saw Mr. OSBORNE was about two months ago, when the visit to the water-works was made by the members of the Council. He attended one meeting of the Council subsequently, and soon after took to his bed. Mr. OSBORNE had been connected with the governing body of the town for some years, and attended to his duties in a quiet, unassuming manner. His death will cause a vacancy in the West Ward, and had he lived he would have held his seat till November, 1881.

THE VACANCY IN THE TOWN COUNCIL.---The death of Mr. R. G. OSBORNE will create a vacancy in the West Ward. We hear that Mr. MORGAN is likely to come forward again, and no doubt will find the benefit of his previous candidature, which made him better known to the burgesses. We have also heard Mr. James ISAACS mentioned as a possible candidate.
