SUDDEN DEATH OF MR RAYMOND RAIGGE

It is with great regret that we record the death of a respected young townsman, Mr. Raymond RAIGGE, which occurred this (Friday) morning, at half-past 12. The deceased was taken very ill at Mr. Thos. DASHWOOD's office on Thursday evening and it was some time before it was possible to move him. Although he rallied somewhat the next day, he suddenly expired this morning. Mr. RAIGGE was exceedingly clever in his profession; one of the most conscientious of men; whatever he took in hand he did well. He was assistant teacher at the School of Art.

FUNERAL OF MR. R. RAYMOND RAIGGE

The mortal remains of this respected young townsman, whose sudden and premature death we had just time to chronicle last week, were committed to their last resting-place in the Ryde Cemetery on Wednesday afternoon. The deceased had very few relatives, his father having recently died, and the chief mourners were his brother-in-law and Mr. Thomas DASHWOOD, J.P., in whose employ Mr. RAIGGE had been for 16 years, and who keenly felt his loss.

There also attended to show their respect for the deceased, the Rev. Hooker WIX, Mr. DASHWOOD's son, and the young men at the office, Mr. Francis NEWMAN, borough surveyor, Mr. J. FLUX, clerk to the School Board, Councillors GUNN, BARTON, and ELLERY, Mr. SPICKERNELL, and others.

The coffin was taken into the chapel, where the first part of the service was performed by the Rev. J. THOMAS, and from thence to the grave, where the remaining part was read by the Rev. A. J. WADE, vicar of Holy Trinity.

IN RETROSPECT

As usual, we have to record the ravages of death amongst the best known and most respected townsmen. The first is Mr. Raymond R. RAIGGE, who died in January, from heart disease, at the early age of 30 years. As the undermaster of the School of Art, he was widely and deservedly respected as displaying great promise in his profession, and for his uniform integrity and honourable conduct.
