Former Church Organist's Death

The funeral took place at the Baptist Church on Saturday of Miss Jessie Evelyn COMDEN, who died on Wednesday week at 14 Star Street, where she lived with a younger sister (Miss May COMDEN). Miss COMDEN was born here 80 years ago, being a daughter of the late Mr. S. W. COMDEN, a baker in business at St. Thomas' Square. As a young woman she was organist at the Congregational Church, George Street, and then for 33 years, at the Baptist Church. She leaves two sisters.

The Rev. E.J. WILLIS officiated at the funeral and Miss A. WARNE (organist) accompanied the hymns "Breathe on me, breath of God" and "Through the love of God our Saviour." The mourners were Miss M. COMDEN (sister), Mr. H. COMDEN (nephew), and the Misses M. SAUNDERS and N.M. YOUNG (nieces). Owing to a traffic delay on the mainland, Mr. F.T. YOUNG (nephew) and Mesdames F. CHART, B.M. GREENYER and M.P. RICHARDS (nieces) arrived too late for the service. Members of the church and other friends also attended. The interment was at the Ryde Cemetery, and the wreaths included one from the minister and members of the Baptist Church.
