SUDDEN DEATH. - We regret to record the death of Mrs. DOVER, of the basket shop, High Street, who died somewhat suddenly on Sunday afternoon. She had been suffering from consumption for some time past, and had been recommended to go to Shanklin. She had made all the necessary arrangements for removing her stock to that town, and part of it had already been removed, but the worry and anxiety proved too much for her enfeebled constitution.

Dr. PLETT, who had attended her, was able to give a certificate. The deceased, and her mother before her, had carried on business in Ryde for many years.
